Support for those with high needs (ie drug or alcohol addiction) or with physical or learning disabilities is available in partnership with others. We do not refuse cases on the basis of survivors having high needs but would work to find them the appropriate support with that e.g. statutory intervention with high-needs mental health; alcohol and drug support for addictions; family support/social work for child in need or child protection issues etc. We would be unlikely to support someone who could be violent or a serious threat to a loan worker. We cannot provide accommodation to those who do not have any but if they are referred we try to work with other agencies to provide this. Basic English is required to be safe in a workplace and high level mental health needs or dependencies can prove a barrier. Addictions or other high needs does not immediately exclude someone from our support. However, we can only work with someone who is already receiving support around their addiction (we cannot offer support directly relating to addiction recovery) and who does not pose a risk in the workplace. Cases would be assessed on a case by case basis. Survivors with physical or learning disabilities: if assessed to be ready for supported employment, assessed on a case by case basis.		There is no fixed time limit on support.  Supported employment for 6 months with further assistance.	Birmingham	30 per year	We offer supported voluntary and paid employment within our own social enterprise businesses to survivors of Modern Slavery. Voluntary work is available with support to victims regardless of NRM and CG decision. Paid employment is offered to those with a positive CG decision. Support alongside employment includes employability, work skills, confidence building and self-esteem, support accessing health services and navigating British life as well as referral into specialist support services including housing, benefits advice, immigration and other legal advice, addiction recovery and other specialist health care.  We refer into local support housing for accommodation, we have a Hope for Justice legal advocate working on site and have developed partnerships for referrals for immigration advice and other specialist legal advice.
